

Transmission with T-Mobile hits the road for a third series on C4

Lauren and Steve tour the country with some seriously big bands in tow

Monday 3rd September - Channel 4's flagship music show - Transmission with T-Mobile – goes on tour once again this September, with presenters Steve Jones and Lauren Laverne serving up an even bigger helping of artists and international celebrity guests. Kicking off on Friday 21st September at Victoria Baths, Manchester - a listed Edwardian Turkish Baths complex - venues will be more unusual than ever for this series.

Transmission with T-Mobile will air every Friday at 11.30pm on C4 for a run of 12 weeks. And if a night on the tiles means you miss out on your weekly dose of the hottest music acts and guests around, you can now also catch all the best show highlights in its new slot on T4 every Saturday morning at 10.30am.

Now in its third series, Transmission with T-Mobile, a co-creation from T-Mobile and Channel 4, has traveled the length of the country, stopping off everywhere from Edinburgh to Brighton to bring you the very best in new music. This series is sure not to disappoint. With performances from Kate Nash and Stereophonics and guests including legendary film director Quentin Tarantino and an exclusive interview with Paul Weller and Gabrielle, who samples his track 'Wild Wood' and features him on backing vocals on her new single 'Why?'

The Transmission Exclusive Stage is a brand new show feature for the latest series and will showcase an exclusive artist performance each week. Viewers can expect anything from artist collaborations, covers or acoustic performances - watch this space...

The ever popular T-Mobile Street Gigs make a welcome return to this series as artists scour a city to find an intimate venue to host their very own exclusive gig where it's all about the music. Each artist will play tour guide as they take viewers on a personalised trip around the city in search of the perfect venue.

Fans have the chance to be at the show and get up close and personal to the bands by logging on to www.t-mobile.co.uk/music. For all those that don't make the guest list, each week the T-Mobile website will host an exclusive unseen performance from one of the artists on that week's show.

Steve Jones said; "There's really no way of describing Transmission with T-mobile other than really really bands, really really guests and really really good. Friday nights are about to grow very big Transmission shaped balls, it's series three and I promise they are going to be bigger and hairier than ever!"

Lauren Laverne said; "The third series of Transmission with T-mobile will prove to be an absolute boon for the local community and indeed the wider televisual audience in general. I'm very much looking forward to jumping back on the fun bus with Welsh beefcake Steve Jones and getting out and about."
